Dr. Zubin Master performed an interview with freelance writer Tim Lougheed on the recent accomplishment by researchers in Oregon who used somatic cell nuclear transfer to create cloned embryos and derive human embryonic stem cells. Master commented on the ethical and policy issues as it relates to Canada’s Assisted Human Reproduction Act which prohibits cloning by any means. This commentary was published in the Canadian Medical Association Journal: http://www.cmaj.ca/content/185/14/E661.full